DEPARTMENTAL REPORTS

Output 1: Health Department

The Health Department focuses on promoting MH hygiene through MHM. Similarly, the department addressed the issues on SRH, Midwifery and Child protection.

1. Menstrual Hygiene Management

By 2030, STADA strives to build a world where no one is held back because they menstruate. We want to ensure that girls and women menstruate with dignity without discrimination.

Objectives

- To ensure that myths, taboos, and stigma around menstruation are addressed by providing the community with access to information and education on menstruation.
- To offer menstrual hygiene talks in and out of school, to both boys and girls.
- To supply safe, hygienic and convenient sanitary towels to vulnerable girls both in schools and communities.

2. Mental Health

The world is experiencing a growing burden of mental health disorders, which in turn lowers work productivity, thus, slowing down economic progress. STADA exists to promote a world in which mental health is valued, promoted, and protected. We do this by offering counseling services to our beneficiaries and training community counselors.

Objectives

- To provide comprehensive mental health and social services in the community.
- To prepare community counselors with the basic skills in counseling so that they can offer psychosocial services.

3. Sexual Reproductive Health & Rights

STADA works to ensure that reproductive health rights are integrated into policies and laws. We do this by examining gaps at the county level and providing recommendations on how to fix the gaps and journeying towards implementation of existing policies.

We achieve this through:

- Advocating for the provision of Family Planning commodities in health facilities where it is easily accessible to everyone.
- Attending County public participation in budgeting to ensure allocation of Family Planning commodities in every health facility.
- Sensitizing the community on the importance of Family Planning while debunking the myths and misconceptions surrounding it.

Adolescent Sexual Reproductive Health:

STADA provides access to comprehensive sexuality education. We have an adolescent center where we meet teenage girls twice a week to improve their physical and emotional well-being. Additionally, the center focuses on ensuring that they remain free from unintended pregnancy, STIs (including HIV/AIDS), and all forms of sexual violence and coercion.

4. Universal Health Coverage/Primary Health Care

Primary Health Care ensures that medical services are available to individuals at the community level. The aspect cuts across the physical, mental and social well-being of individuals regardless of age, race or color. PHC is a vital building block to achieve universal health coverage, as approximately 80 percent of medical services can be provided at the PHC level.

We advocate for quality health for all by:

- Empowering families to stand for their own health needs, and speaking about the barriers to access health services. We also use their views to push and influence an equilibrium between the supply and demand of health services.
- Holding leaders accountable for adequately funding health systems especially primary health care.
- Encouraging leaders to innovate around PHC and UHC.
- Pushing for the implementation of existing policies, to identify gaps in such policies and work together with the county government to develop new policies.

5. Cervical Cancer Awareness Campaigns

Cervical cancer is preventable and curable, as long as it is detected early and managed effectively. STADA carries out awareness campaigns to increase the knowledge of cervical cancer and Human Papillomavirus (HPV) and the importance of early detection. We encourage girls and women to go for screenings as early as 21 years of age.

Objectives:

- To increase screening participation with a particular focus on those women not screened at all during the recommended two-yearly interval.
- To raise awareness of the challenges faced by women and girls who are affected by cervical cancer.
- To promote research into its cause prevention, diagnosis, treatment, and cure.

6. Nutrition

Kenya is experiencing a triple burden of nutrition, undernutrition, micronutrient deficiencies, overweight and obesity. To address malnutrition, we support in ensuring that nutrition is more visible in the county budgets for enhanced implementation of nutrition plans and advocate for good nutrition practices at all levels including community level.

Objectives:

- To review the nutrition policy environment, plans and program reports to identify gaps and needs.
- To strengthen the enabling environment and coordination of nutrition interventions at the county and sub-county level.

- To create opportunities for the community to exchange views and develop solutions to issues of interest to the community.

JUNE ACHIEVEMENTS

In June, the department conducted the following activities:

Output 2: Gender Department

Gender Based Violence

Under this department, STADA seeks to attain Sustainable Development Goal 5, Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls, by ending all forms of discrimination, violence and any harmful practices against women and girls in the public and private sphere. Our aim is to empower all women and girls to take full participation in leadership, decision making and economic development.

We have a range of initiatives that we put in place to achieve our vision, this includes: addressing the underlying causes and motivators of violence against women and girls at a population level, gender-based violence (GBV) primary prevention programs aim to promote change.

We work around all forms of GBV i.e., physical violence, sexual violence, and emotional violence. This we do by advocating for implementation of Gender Based Violence policies, sensitization in community and schools and working with key stakeholders in the justice system to bring perpetrators to book.

Objectives:

- To encourage and support behavior change to challenge the long-standing, pervasive, and historical gender-based oppressions in society.
- To coordinate the inclusion of gender considerations in development planning and to advance the fair political and socioeconomic advancement of women and girls.

1. Adolescent Girls

STADA is dedicated to put an end to teenage pregnancies, prenatal deaths, school dropouts, and the rise in HIV/AIDs infection. These we believe are some of the issues hindering the girl child from emerging into their full potential.

Under this program, we uplift the girls by teaching them very important life skills such as communication, problem solving, career choice and leadership. All this is to ensure that the girls grow up bolder and confident to be able to take up space just like their male counterparts.

We are also cognizant of the fact that girls go through so much trauma inflicted on them by their families and their society, with the help of our resident Psychologist, we take the girls through counseling sessions which aim to help them heal from past pains.

2. Teen Moms' Empowerment

This program is the heart beat of the Gender Department, teen mothers are the most vulnerable group of women in the society since most of them became mothers due to defilement and without proper care and empowerment, these girls are easy targets to repeat defilement.

Under this program we are dedicated to breaking the cycle of poverty by empowering these women to be able to fend for themselves and their children by taking them through vocational training, table banking, entrepreneurship training as well as offering scholarships to those interested to go back to school. We also take them through counseling sessions to ensure they heal completely from past traumas.

3. Feminist Movement Building

Sexism. Misogynistic exploitation and other forms of social oppressions and abuse are but a few indicators of gender inequality that women continue to battle even as they try to measure up to their male counterparts. It is for this reason that we continue to build a strong feminist movement of like-minded women and men as we seek to put a finality to sexism, misogynists' exploitation, and other forms of abuse in order to fully realize gender equality in both theory and practice. We achieve this by conducting dialogues and sensitization in schools and communities to ensure that girls and women know their rights and are able to speak up when being violated.

Objectives

- To educate young girls and women on their rights and be able to stand firm to avoid oppressions.
- To eradicate sexists and misogynists' exploitations and create a society where girls and women can thrive.
- To create awareness on the importance of gender equality and invite men to join the movement.

4. Survivors Forum

Survivors of Sexual Gender Based Violence (SGBV) often face stigma and discrimination in the society hence preventing them from living a wholesome life. To end the stigma, we provide a safe space for women and girls who have been affected by sexual violence to share their experiences and support one another. We initiate Sexual Gender Based Violence prevention and response and document the cases for easy follow ups. Through group therapy sessions we give them opportunities to voice their thoughts and feelings.

Objectives

- To ensure survivors of sexual assault have access to services which are responsive and appropriate to their needs.
- To end stigma and give hope to the victims.
- Create a space for safe discussions and dialogues.

JUNE ACHIEVEMENTS

Output 3: Water, Sanitation and Hygiene Department

The WASH department ensures easy access to water, hygiene and proper sanitation in the community. The department has done extensive work in Kisumu County and has also extended its services to Kitui County-Mwingi constituency. Activities in the department include but are not limited to Borehole drilling, pump repair, rehabilitation, and construction of toilets and hand washing facilities.

Besides, the department also offers sanitation and hygiene talks as well as distribution of reusable sanitary towels to the young women and girls in the community and the surrounding schools.

Objectives

- To ensure that the communities have access to safe drinking water.
- To ensure access to handwashing facilities in targeted communities and institutions

- To reduce open defecation in communities through the construction of latrines.
- To improve menstrual hygiene management among young women and girls in the community by providing reusable sanitary towels and conducting menstrual hygiene education.

Sub-departments

Borehole drilling

STADA in partnership with Life Water Canada, drills, rehabilitates and repairs boreholes. Drilling of these boreholes is preceded by water sanitation health and hygiene talks with priority given to areas where water is a primary need and there is no water source nearby. We only drill boreholes in public places such as churches, schools, and markets. This we do to ensure there is a sense of ownership by all members of the community, this way they take better care of the boreholes.

Plumbing

The plumbing section deals with the rehabilitation and repair of the broken pumps within the community by fixing parts of the pump that are either broken or worn out or rehabilitating the borehole by replacing the whole pump and the piping system.

Health and hygiene (HH) talk

HH talks are conducted in schools and public areas. The talks serve as a platform to inquire about water sources, waste disposal, personal and communal sanitation and hygiene (toilets and handwashing facilities). Additional areas covered during these activities include menstrual health management, water storage, drilling, repairs and rehabilitation of boreholes, and general environmental conservation.

So far, STADA has conducted over 2000 Health and Hygiene talks in both Kisumu and Kitui counties.

Latrine Construction

Open defecation is one of the challenges crippling the public health sector since it is responsible for most cases of water-borne diseases. STADA works to curb this challenge by constructing pit latrines, especially in schools. The result is a clean environment with limited fecal contamination.

Water Tank Distribution and Hand Washing Stations

Hand washing became common during the Covid-19 pandemic, as a way to curb the disease. STADA took it up as a platform to boost sanitation in the affected schools and communities. STADA also provides water tanks to schools to ensure that there is constant water flow in the institutions and public places.

JUNE ACHIEVEMENTS

In June, the number of drilled boreholes, rehabilitated and repaired pumps, alongside health and hygiene talks that were provided were as follows:

Drilled boreholes	Rehabilitated pumps	Repaired pumps	Health and hygiene talks	Total activities
2	8	70	75	155

Output 4: Education Department

STADA aims at achieving SDG number 4, Quality Education, by ensuring that children going to school are comprehensively learning and achieving foundational literacy and numeracy as early as grade 3. Our vision is for each child to develop a curiosity about learning, discover their interests, and grow in their love of learning. STADA desires to develop a strong reading culture, an environment where reading is championed, valued, respected, and encouraged. This is achieved by fastening the abilities of those lagging behind in their ability to read. We desire to have all-around children, talented, disciplined, and confident in facing life challenges, as we prepare them for future leadership.

PROGRAMS

a. STADA Community Library

With the vision of developing a strong reading culture in the children, we have established a community library equipped with books for all grades. This is to help children who are learning in schools that are ill-equipped with basic learning materials.

Objectives

- To promote a culture of reading among the children in the community.
- To alleviate immoral practices by giving someone a chance to be critical and creative.

- To equip learners with extra information from the class.
- To bring information close to the people who might not under ordinary circumstances access such information.

b. Accelerated Learning Program

To achieve Universal Literacy and Numeracy, STADA is implementing an Accelerated Learning Program, at the community library to fasten the abilities of children who are lagging behind in reading and doing basic numeracy. This is done through a one-on-one reading and numeracy assessment to generate a baseline of children's competencies.

Objectives

- Provide an alternative education and a faster system for learning.
- Provide learners with opportunities to acquire desirable knowledge that will propel them to a better future.
- Promote self-expression, self-discipline, and self-reliance among the learners.
- Enable children enrolled in schools to catch up with their peers in other schools.
- To create an atmosphere for them to discover, develop, deploy, and express their skills.
- To broaden and deepen the vocabulary of the learners. Students are introduced to 'new or unfamiliar words in each book they read.
- To improve reading fluency. The students usually have an opportunity to take turns reading aloud, listening to group members read, and following along as others read.

Activities

- Assessments – regular assessments are done to the learners to establish the level of literacy and numeracy competencies.
- Learning activities – after the assessment, the learners are grouped based on their levels and taught the basic skills they lacked.
- Tests and revision – monthly tests are administered to the learners to determine the level reached.

- Book reading sessions – this is done regularly to expand members’ personal literacy experience by reading and discussing works chosen by the learner in a friendly and open atmosphere.
- Debate – This is to enable learners to formulate and express their ideas effectively, be more persuasive and confident when giving presentations and improve their one-on-one dealings with others.

c. Creative Hub

Talent incubation center to help young girls realize their potential. This is done through one-on-one mentoring; each talented girl is matched with a mentor who is an expert in their field of interest. We have established different families: including, poetry/spoken word, dance, singing, drama, fashion design and modeling.

Objectives

- To boost participants' confidence by discovering their talents at an early age and start nurturing them.
- To develop participants’ skills and enhance them.
- To provide a strong foundation in performing and creative arts.

5. Education Scholarship Program

Adolescent girls dropping out of school may lead to a high level of illiteracy, gender inequality, single motherhood, unemployment, and many more. To address this, we keep girls in school by advocating for their retention and offering financial support to those with low socioeconomic status. Our focus is on girls from marginalized communities who are recruited after the needs assessment.

Objectives

- To eliminate barriers to quality education and obstacles that girls face in pursuit of their education.
- To achieve gender equality and reduce inequality

STADA Kenya also focuses on matters of succession of land, in our area of jurisdiction. Widows are often disinherited after the death of their husbands especially in cases where they do not have children to protect them and that is where we come in to help them navigate the justice system for justice to be realized.
